Nashville, TN–September 29, 2009: Author, speaker and nationally-recognized elder law expert Timothy L. Takacs has been selected by the Tennessee Bar Association to deliver a VA Benefits Accreditation Seminar for attorneys. The three-part webinar series, necessary for VA-Accredited attorneys to complete as part of continuing legal education requirements, will debut in February 2010.

The program will help attorneys guide clients through the Department of Veterans Affairs system and give them a working knowledge of claims procedures, basic eligibility rules, representation before the Department of Veterans Affairs, appeals, disability compensation, dependency and indemnity compensation, and VA pensions.

Takacs is known as an authority on VA benefits who is often called upon to teach continuing legal education programs to attorneys. He is a frequent presenter at Tennessee Bar Association educational events. He recently delivered the Tennessee Bar Association's Elder Law seminar on ethics and spoke at the General Practice seminar on public benefits for older persons.

As the architect of the Life Care Planning approach to elder law, Takacs has transformed the practice of this unique specialty of law in the United States.
